

CHAMBER 7

BIOGRAPHY

Chamber 7 started with core members Christopher Hernandez (guitarist/vocalist) and Jill Kuechle (bassist) many years ago in the Bay Area (Sunnyvale). After adding second guitarist Bill Edwards and drummer Myron Whistler, they set out playing shows all over the United States, from small dive bars to huge festivals. Chamber 7 gained a loyal fan base throughout various parts of the world following radio airplay, with the CD releases of the self-titled "Chamber 7" and "Bacteria." After parting ways with Bill Edwards and Myron Whistler, the band recruited Christopher's younger brother "Big Jon" Hernandez to sit behind the drums. As a result of Jon's aggressive and bombastic style of playing, the band decided to remain a three-piece outfit. Chamber 7 went on to record 2008's "The Evil I'd Do" and hit the road once again delivering explosive, rip-your-face-off shows leaving crowds wanting more. Today's version of Chamber 7 is the tightest and most brutal to date, and is gearing up to record "Machines Of Malice" for 2010. Chamber 7 will once again hit the road to destroy and brutalize every town they play in. Check out the band when playing in your town, they will not disappoint!!!!
